

Gastroenterology and Rare Diseases Conference

27 September 2016

Lutyens Room RIBA

66 Portland Place
London
W1B 1AD

10.00 - 10.15	Tea & Coffee
10.15 - 10.30	Introduction and NIHR Landscape	TBC
10.30 - 11.00	The Patient Voice in Liver Disease	Andrew Langford CEO, British Liver Trust
11.00 - 11.30	Insights into new therapies from studying rare phenotypes of IBD	Prof Subrata Ghosh Director of the Institute of Translational Medicine, University Hospitals Birmingham
11.30 - 12.00	UK-AIH: mapping unmet need	Dr Jessica Dyson Newcastle Biomedical Research Centre & RD-TRC Fellow
12.00 - 12.30	UK-PSC and risk stratification for trials	Prof Gideon Hirschfield NIHR Birmingham Liver Biomedical Research Unit
12.30 - 13.30	Lunch
13.30 - 14.00	Databases and rare disease research - what we have learnt from UK-PBC	Dr George Mells Cambridge Biomedical Research Centre RD-TRC Fellow
14.00 - 14.30	Obstetric liver disease: rare but impactful	Dr Rachel Westbrook Royal Free Hospital
14.30 - 15.00	Drug induced liver injury	Professor Guru Aithal NIHR Nottingham Digestive Diseases Biomedical Research Unit
15.00 - 15.15	Tea & Coffee
15.15 - 15.45	Industry perspectives on rare disease research in GI and Liver Disease	Stuart Kendrick GSK
15.45 - 16.15	Conclusion and Future Road Map	Professor David Jones Newcastle Biomedical Research Centre

Attendance is limited by space. Please contact Rachel Spring (rs842@medschl.cam.ac.uk) if you wish to attend.

NHS
National Institute for Health Research

Rare Diseases
Translational Research Collaboration